Pricing — kept simple

Every seller’s products are different, so we give you a custom quote. To keep pricing fair and clear, here is how the US market usually looks.

Quick market number: Most US prep centers charge around $1.00 – $1.65 per unit for standard FBA prep. The middle of the market is about $1.30 – $1.35 per unit. Your Prep Services FBA quote is made for your products — not a generic “from $X” ad price.

What other companies often charge

Company	What their website shows	What to watch for
MyFBAPrep	About $0.95–$1.00 per unit	Often billed as if you send ~5,000 units every month
AMZ Prep	Ads say “from $0.40”	Real price is often higher; bags/bundles may cost extra
Typical US market	About $1.30 per unit (middle)	Very low prices usually need very high volume
Prep Services FBA	Custom quote for your products	No big monthly unit minimum · Free PrepCorex portal · $0 setup

Example: what “market price” can look like

Using ~$1.35 per unit (common market mid-point for standard prep):

Units you prep each month	Approx. market cost	If a company forces a 5,000-unit minimum
1,000	About $1,350	You may still be billed near $5,000
2,500	About $3,375	You may still be billed near $5,000
5,000	About $6,750	About $5,000 before extras

3 things that make “cheap” prices expensive

1. Monthly minimums — you pay for units you didn’t send
2. Extra fees — bags, bundles, returns, or storage added later
3. Software / account fees — portal charges hidden outside the per-unit price
